Giant Oil Slick Keeps Growing

Endangers Birds, Beaches In California

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A sluggish giant oil slick stretched out over a 200 square mile area of the Pacific Ocean today and officials still had no idea how to clean up the mess.

Dead sea birds began washing up on Ventura County beaches Friday as the growing oil slick fed by an undersea oil well leading at the rate of 21,000 gallons a day thrust the film shoreward.

Winds pushed oil toward beaches, then away again, but a thin film of oil had washed ashore along 14 miles of shoreline just south of Santa Barbara.

The thick central part of the slick, about a mile across, wallowed near the well's ocean drilling rig six miles offshore and officials said it showed no signs of moving onto the beaches.

OIL-SOAKED BIRDS
A program was set up by the California Fish and Game Department to pick up and save oil-soaked birds along the beach. Some dead birds were reported and the department said dozens of grebes and seagulls had become so oil-soaked their lives were endangered also.

Damage to shellfish and other marine life was not yet determined, the department said. The Coast Guard said the slick covered 200 square miles but was relatively listless and directionless.

Officials said the Union Oil Co. of California, whose well sprung the leak Tuesday, was still assuming full responsibility for cleaning up the slick. The Coast Guard said, however, that (See back page, sec. 1, col. 5)

BH Youth Is Stabbed At Dance

Condition Poor, Hospital Says

A Benton Harbor youth was reported in poor condition today in Mercy hospital after being stabbed during a teenage dance earlier today in Benton township.

Township officers identified the victim as Dwight Conrad Williams, 18, of 507 Green avenue, Benton Harbor. They said he was stabbed in the left side during a fight with an unidentified youth.

Williams underwent two hours emergency surgery after being taken to the hospital, hospital attendants said.

Township patrolman Roger Peters said Williams was attending the dance at 1727 Territorial road, Benton township, when the fight occurred. None of the other 100 or so teenagers present, he said, would describe what happened.

The dance was being held in a building rented by Ronald Merritt, 17, of 662 Madison avenue, (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

S. Viet General Wounded

Capital Struck Three Times By Terrorists

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — About 500 North Vietnamese troops attacked a U.S. base 43 miles northwest of Saigon while terrorists struck three times in the capital today, one attack wounding a key staff general of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The night assault on the infantry base cost the Americans two dead, 31 wounded and a helicopter shot down, the 1,008th lost in combat in the war. The four crewmen were rescued uninjured. First reports said only three enemy soldiers were killed.

Twice the North Vietnamese tried to drive into the base under cover of a five-hour barrage of 100 mortar shells. They were beaten back by U.S. bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery.

U.S. spokesmen said several artillery barrages were fired into one group of 30 enemy soldiers illuminated by flares dropped from planes as they moved toward the base. But the effect of the barrages was not immediately determined.

The U.S. Command reported one light observation plane was shot down Friday about 25 miles north of Saigon. It was the 339th U.S. fixed wing aircraft lost in combat over South Vietnam. The pilot escaped uninjured.

11 WOUNDED
Eleven persons, including Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Kiem and four of his body guards, were wounded in the three terrorist attacks in Saigon. A ground attack on a hamlet south of Da Nang and two overnight shelling, including one against the old imperial capital of Hue, killed seven Vietnamese civilians and wounded 15 others, a spokesman said.

The South Vietnamese government made public another in a series of protest notes to the International Control Commission denouncing "acts of terrorism and sabotage directed against the people of the Republic of Vietnam."

Kiem suffered a broken leg after two men on a motorcycle hurled an American grenade and two homemade bombs at his car. Eyewitnesses said Kiem and his four bodyguards managed to jump from their vehicles before the bombs exploded.

Government spokesmen said a suspect was arrested shortly after the attack, but they would not elaborate.

Four civilians and two civil defense corps youths were wounded in another terrorist bombing 30 yards from the Senate building, and two men on a motorcycle also tossed a pack of explosives into a parking lot used by American cars. No casualties were reported and only one car was damaged.

Kiem, 45, was the second high-ranking victim of terrorists in less than a month. Education Minister Le Minh Tri was fatally wounded Jan. 6 when a bomb exploded his car. A government spokesman said Kiem's condition is "not very critical." He said the four bodyguards suffered minor injuries.

Picketing Stops At BH Grocery

Settlement Awaits Signatures

Pickets were withdrawn from a Benton Harbor supermarket today as the result of a reported agreement between store owner George Wolf and Maurice Bishop, head of the local unit of the Southern Christian Leadership conference.

The purported settlement was reached after Wolf yesterday obtained a court order restricting picketing. He also filed suit for $5,000 damages for interference with business.

Named as defendants were Bishop and the SCLC.

The settlement reportedly involves agreement by Wolf to send a Negro to meat cutting school, withdrawal of the suit by Wolf and cessation of picketing by SCLC. It was awaiting signatures this morning by the parties involved at the office of Thomas McCoy, Wolf's attorney.

The demonstration Friday was by up to 20 Negroes at a time to back demands for the hiring of a black meat cutter. The store was open during regular business hours Friday.

The order issued by Circuit Judge Karl F. Zick prohibited picketing from harassing or interfering with customers, from parking of cars by pickets in the store's lot and from harassing store employees.

It required Bishop and the SCLC to appear before Judge Zick Feb. 14 to show cause why the restraining order should not be made a preliminary injunction.

Wolf declined to give the number of employees at his store but said five of them are Negroes. He declared the store is a leader in employee integration.

NO OPENINGS
There are no positions currently open in the meat cutting department, Wolf said yesterday. He added that a black meat cutter would be hired if there is a vacancy and if there is a qualified applicant. The store has no facility for training

But Dispute May Not Be Over

Recount Could Be Challenged; Court Suit Filed

LANSING (AP) — Unofficial statewide returns from the daylight savings time recount, which was completed Friday, indicate Michigan voters defeated DST last Nov. 5 by just 488 votes.

The recount, which covered nearly half of the state's precincts and 80 of its 83 counties at a cost to fast-time supporters of $13,305, failed to overturn the DST defeat reported after the election.

It did, however, trim 1,013 votes off the margin of loss.

The end of the recount, meanwhile, may not spell the end of the saving time controversy. Other possible developments include:

OTHER POSSIBILITIES

—Challenges by the business groups who petitioned for the recount to decisions made by recount officials.

—Court action on a suit filed Thursday with the State Court of Appeals, urging an order which would block the Board of State Canvassers from certifying the corrected returns as official.

—The possibility that some legislators who favor saving time may try to pass a bill providing Michigan would set its clocks ahead one hour in late April and back one hour in late October.

State elections director Bernard Apol said the recount changed the once-official figures certified by the Board of State Canvassers in December by adding 1,106 yes votes and 93 no votes.

Apol said the total vote now appears to have been 1,402,554 in favor of DST and 1,403,052 against it. The difference was less than 0.02 per cent of the total vote cast.

The recount was completed late Friday when the last county — Schoolcraft — reported in with a 10-vote net loss for DST.

Earlier in the day fast time gained 96 votes in Iosco County. MEET FEB. 11

Apol said the state canvassers would meet Feb. 11 and would receive the recount figures then. He added he did not know whether the board would certify them at that time.

Apol said he expected to have all recount reports by Monday and would then notify all parties to the recount that they have five days to appeal determinations made by recount officials.

Returns from the counties filed with Apol's office last December indicated DST had been defeated by 415 votes. A recheck of the precinct-by-precinct figures boosted the apparent margin to 1,501.

Grand Rapids residents Steven R. Servaas and Herbert J. Ranta filed the appeals court suit, challenging the validity of the election and charging the ballot proposal was improperly worded.

Meanwhile, it was rumored that some legislators may move this year to strike down the law the Legislature passed in 1967 exempting Michigan from the saving time requirements of the federal government.

A repeal of the exemption might put the state back on saving time despite the Nov. 5 vote, they thought.

From a political viewpoint, it seemed unlikely that lawmakers would be willing to vote for DST after the voters of the state had turned it down.

Penn Central Fined For Blocking Traffic

MONROE (AP) — Penn Central Railroad was fined $3,395 Friday for blocking Monroe traffic crossing for up to three hours.

Monroe County Circuit Judge William Wicpert Jr. levied the amount after Penn Central had been charged on seven counts of blocking crossings. State law prohibits blocking for more than five minutes.

On all seven charges Wicpert fined the railroad $35 court costs. On five of them he charged maximum fines of $500.

Ten Sheriff's Officers Stepped Up In Rank

Berrien Sheriff Forrest "Nick" Jewell announced Friday that 10 of his department's officers were promoted one grade today without an increase in pay.

Promotions are tentative pending approval of the county board of supervisor's finance committee, which rules on advancements, the sheriff said. The county affairs committee already has given its okay, he said.

The sheriff described promotions for corporals, sergeants and Det. Gerald L. Hass — head of the identification bureau — as a morale booster ranking his men as high as men in other area departments doing the same jobs.

Corporals become sergeants, sergeants become lieutenants, and Det. Hass, 45, a Stevensville resident and 20-year veteran, becomes the department's only captain.

Hass had been performing a lieutenant's duties in the past and was informally referred to as such. The captaincy makes him fourth in command of the department.

RANK ELIMINATED
The rank of corporal is eliminated.

The sheriff said he later will seek the board of supervisors' approval of pay increases for his men, but "not as a result of these promotions."

"We're upgrading the ranks due to the fact that various police agencies have these ranks — our (former) sergeants are equal to their lieutenants — and we feel for morale's sake that the men should be equal," the sheriff said.

Promoted from sergeant to lieutenant are Murvin Merrill, Jr., 44 of Berrien Springs; Lewis Connors, 63, of St. Joseph; Nigel Krickhahn, 30, of Watervliet; William Bellman, 37, of St. Joseph; Paul Mills, 49, of Millburg; and Ronald Sehalon, 34, of St. Joseph. Raised from corporal to sergeant are Irwin Davis, 54 of Benton Harbor; Charles M. Tiefenbach, 56, of Berrien Springs; and John Gillespie, 29, of St. Joseph.

It's Not Down On The Farm At Lansing Any More

A tradition observed by all legislative bodies, great or small, good or bad, has been to assign to its committees people who supposedly have some faint knowledge or experience with the subject matter coming before the committees.

An ex-schoolteacher would go to the education committee; a hunter or fisherman to conservation; a lawyer to the judiciary; a farmer to agriculture; and so on.

The majority party naturally holds the majority memberships and the chairmanship of each committee.

This resort to specialization is not followed all the way and not infrequently it is impossible to pursue it completely.

Yet the separation of the sheep from the goats prevails generally.

The Democrats who control the Michigan House of Representatives by a 57-53 margin are tossing that tradition out the window.

Its Agricultural committee has 11 members, and it is only logical, from a political standpoint, that six of them should be Democrats, and its chairman be of a like stripe.

It does seem a bit strange, though, that not one of the committee's majority is a farmer. Every one is from Detroit or its suburbs. Their background in farming stops at watching a planter their wives might be tending.

The five Republicans either are farmers or are from farming communities.

So it is possible that bills affecting agriculture may receive an expert appraisal of sorts.

It remains to be seen how probable this is.

Not content with taking the committee out of the country, the Democrats are going sled length by taking the country at least part way out of the committee.

The committee majority or some of it at least is said to have expressed displeasure in being assigned to Agriculture. To a big city boy that seemingly is the same as banishing a policeman from his downtown beat to out where the weeds grow.

So the majority changed its name to Consumers and Agriculture.

Edson Root, a Bangor apple grower, tried to amend it to Agriculture and Consumers, but lost in that face saving effort.

Presumably Consumers and Agriculture connotes more political pizzazz than Agriculture alone. At least consumers outnumber farmers 10 or more to 1, and protecting the consumer has taken on considerable glamor these days. There's even a word for it—consumerism.

It may be the present majority can't find a farmer in its midst and if that is the case, agriculture will have to make do with what facsimiles may be available.

It's a queer way, though, of treating what is still the most important economic factor, next to manufacturing, in Michigan.

DR. COLEMAN

..And Speaking Of Your Health

The value of a diet low in polyunsaturated fats, now seems beyond a question of a doubt to be important in reducing heart attacks. It has long been suspected that the narrowing of arteries to the heart, to the brain, to the arms and legs and other organs of the body was increased in people who ate unlimited fats during their early and adult lives. There obviously are other factors in the production of and arteriosclerosis, both of which form the deposits in the Dr. Coleman arteries which narrow them and interfere with the blood supply.

A very important study has just been completed at the Wadsworth Veterans Hospital in Los Angeles involving almost nine hundred men. One of the most important conclusions "was that even in his sixties, a man may be able to cut his risk of death from coronary heart disease by diet." This is a very impressive study and should lead Americans to the sane decision that saturated fats taken over a long period of time, unquestionably reduce their survival time.

One of the diets fed to the veterans was filled with cholesterol found especially in bacon, eggs, coconut cream pie and short ribs. Such saturated fatty food diets, filled with animal fats, increased the cholesterol in the blood and increased the hazard of strokes and heart attacks. On the other hand, those who ate a diet of polyunsaturated fats because their food was cooked in cottonseed, soy bean, corn oil and safflower oil, distinctly benefited and showed a marked reduction in the number of strokes and heart attacks.

The general principles of a practical dietary program that leads to less cholesterol and less sclerosis of the arteries is simple. Avoid dairy product high in fats, shortening and lard so often found in pastries and cookies. Include fat free milk, egg whites, liver, veal, poultry, fish and sea food. Lean meats that are well cooked and drained free of animal fat can reduce the unnecessary added risks of fat saturated diets.

Sensible dietary regimes must begin early and in fact can be started in childhood by parents who really plan ahead for the health of their children and themselves.

Instruments frozen far below ordinary levels were applied with successes sufficient to make these doctors believe that this new method should be studied for a longer time on a larger series of patients. The results have been most encouraging and may well be the approach to the final answer to this unpleasant problem.

Opening lead—ten of spades
It is impossible to arrive at the best contract on every deal you play, and anyone who contends otherwise is a fit subject for the men with the white coats.

When you consider that the next time you sit down to play you and your partner may be dealt any one of 5,157,850,293, 780,050,462,404 possible combinations of hands, you realize that you are certain to miss the best final contract in at least a few billion of them.

This deal occurred in a match between Great Britain and Lebanon during the 1963 European championships. When the British held the North-South bid at the first table, the bidding went as shown.

West led a spade and declarer took the obvious twelve tricks. He lost a diamond, period. It is difficult to criticize North-South for having failed to reach the excellent slam they missed, since normal bidding methods would not reveal the enormous power wielded by South's singleton heart, North's singleton diamond, and South's single ton queen of spades.

Many players talk about the great advances made in bidding since the introduction of point count, but not nearly enough has been said about the importance of hands fitting or misfitting each other and the effect this has on the final outcome of a hand.

Thus, in the present case, North-South have a total of only 21 high-card points between them, and yet are over-whelming favorites to come home with twelve tricks.

You would think that the British North-South pair would either break even or lose points on the deal, but, actually, when their Lebanese counterparts at the second table held the North-South cards, the British gained 620 points on the hand because the bidding went:

Toward A Less Lordlier Position

"The only thing wrong with the House of Lords is its existence," once grumped Oxford historian A.J.P. Taylor, "and the only improvement it needs is that it should vanish, leaving a record of emptiness and folly." However, even the most passionate advocates of change in England have a hidden affection for the style and the dignity of a House they otherwise berate. Instead of relegating the Lords to ermine irrelevance, Prime Minister Harold Wilson is going to push for the passage of a reform bill this year.

The new legislation will culminate the seven-centuries long process by which the power of the House of Lords, which was at first the dominant chamber, has been eroded and made subordinate to an elected House of Commons. The goal of the Labor party in the postwar era has been gradually to transform the Lords into an "Upper House" or a "Second Chamber." In it a strictly limited number of voting peers would perfect the legislation enacted by the House of Commons.

The catalyst which spurred the Wilson government into action was an embarrassing defeat in June 1968. The House of Lords rejected a statutory order that was to have implemented a United Nations decision to tighten sanctions against Rhodesia by a vote of 193 to 184. Wilson, in consultation with the leaders of the opposition, already had proposed a bill in the fall of 1967 to trim the powers of this antiquated body and to end the automatic seating privilege of some 1,062 hereditary and life peers. Few hereditary peers even show up at sessions these days; the ornate House has about half as many chairs as members.

The image of a scarlet chamber with its Victorian-Gothic decor, where chinless earls doze, clutching ear trumpets only to be roused on occasion to bluster against reform, has long gone. Much has been done in the past decade to improve the quality of debate and achievement in the House of Lords. The nobles, observes the London Times have become an unpredictable, if not swinging group through the appointment of such life peers as Lord Snow, the novelist, Lord Chalfont, the Minister of Disarmament, and Baroness Asquith.

These peers who were made, not born have been attending to matters for which the Commons has had neither the time nor the courage. In acting to abolish capital punishment, and in their recommendations to change the homosexual and abortion laws, The Observer asserts, the Lords have in many ways supplanted the Commons as the nation's reformers.

Prime Minister Wilson is said to realize that a reformed House of Lords with paid, active members willing to use some residual powers, might on balance be an effective check on the Executive and so an improvement to Parliament. Nor it is not to be overlooked that the Prime Minister, who has appointed mostly Laborite peers, is well aware that this house admirably suits his patronage needs.

The Tories, on the other hand, want to hold up passage of the bill until after the next election so that they can appoint those who would serve in the new, streamlined House of Lords. With Tories and Labor in agreement on everything but the timing of the move, there seems little doubt as to the outcome.

Even the peers agree to reforms because they recognize that nominated Lords will have far greater moral authority than hereditary ones. In this increasingly classless society the adage that "Every Englishman loves a Lord" still appears to hold some substance.

The American dollar owes its name to the Counts of Schlick who mined silver at Joachimstal, Bohemia, in 1518. Their coins became known as Joachimstaler, later just taler. From this came the Dutch daler and United States dollar.

BORN TODAY

For more than 35 years, Negro poet Langston Hughes wrote of what it was like to be a black man in America.

Hughes was born in Joplin, Mo., in 1902, and began his writing career in Cleveland, O., at the old Central High School. He frequently credited teachers at Central for getting him started. He published his first poem in 1921, a year after he was graduated.

"I wrote about love, about the steel mills where my father worked, the slums where we lived, and the brown girls from the South, prancing up and down Central Avenue in a spring day," he once said. After leaving Cleveland in the 1920s, he lived in Mexico, spent a year at Columbia University, then sailed for Africa and later Europe.

When he took first prize in a poetry contest for Negro writers in 1925, he gained recognition as a talented writer.

One publisher recently estimated that his output several years ago was some 30 volumes, including two autobiographies, collaboration on several operas, about 20 plays, thousands of articles and miscellaneous poems.

His works included "Black Nativity," "Mulatto," and lyrics for the Elmer Rice-Kurt Weill musical, "Street Scene."

He wrote eloquently about a black dream in the ghettos. After roaming the world, he settled in Harlem, a place he loved.

Others born today include Victor Herbert, Clark Gable, Hildegarde, and S. J. Perelman.

NO AID SEEN FOR LAKE BLUFF LAND OWNERS

War Against Erosion To Continue

Want Creation Of Public Body To Seek Funds

By TOM BRUNDRETT
Staff Writer

Lake front property owners last night pumped new effort into their fight against lake bluff erosion despite bleak prospects of federal or state help.

About 100 of the owners and other interested persons agreed to form a committee to promote creation of a public body to deal with the federal and state governments.

They named Thomas McGrath, president of the Lake-shore Chamber of Commerce, as committee chairman and empowered him to select the committee from the names of persons attending the session in St. Paul's Episcopal church on Layne drive, St. Joseph.

The action came after engineers from the Army Corps of Engineers, a representative of U.S. Sen. Philip Hart's office and State Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, doused cold water on hopes for immediate and large state or federal aid. Zollar proposed the engineers undertake a new study to see what could be done.

Sidney Woolner, administrative assistant to Hart, warned against any great hopes of a change in federal aid policies.

"I'm not very optimistic that federal participation can be raised. It gets sticky when private property is involved."

ENDORSES PLAN

Woolner said Hart would investigate the possibilities and do all that he could and he endorsed the plan for the formation of a public body in the county to handle the problem.

McGrath, who with Stephen Upton was in charge of the meeting, said the job of the new committee is to "definitely and decisively tell the different levels of government what the problem is and what authority is needed to deal with the state and federal governments."

According to McGrath the aim would be to work through Berrien county to get an agency designated or created to handle the problem. The state and federal government, said McGrath, need an agency that has the authority to make commitments.

Some of the people owning the property, McGrath said, believe the federal government should be deeply involved because they believe it is responsible for the erosion. They blame erection of the piers in St. Joseph, the change in water levels and the fill-in projects near Chicago, he said. The piers were erected around 1900.

The erosion over the past years has caused houses to fall into the lake or be moved to a new site and is now within 15 feet of a new victim and about five feet of others.

The engineers, Phillip Wong of Detroit and Ross Kittleman of Grand Haven, said the federal government now pays on the basis of federal or other public control of the land.

NOT QUALIFIED

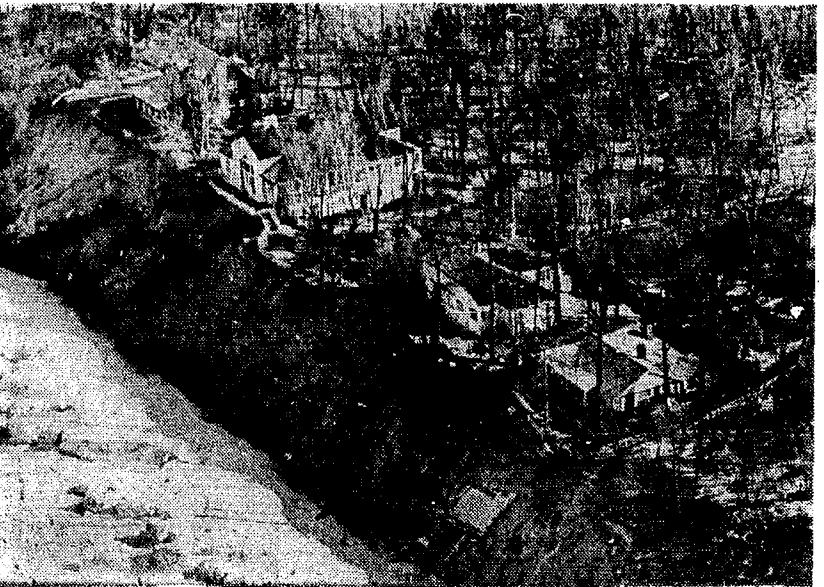

In Berrien's case, they said a 1956 study determined land south of the St. Joseph city limits to be mostly owned by private persons and therefore not qualified for any great help.

The aid, the engineers said, is based on the amount of public benefit derived from the proposed project.

A proposed project in St. Joseph, authorized in 1958, would now cost, said Wong, $2.3 million with the city responsible for $1.8 million. Under the program, a 10 foot deep, 25-foot wide strip was to be created from the pier southward about

THE PROBLEM: Lake Michigan batters relentlessly against the bluff in south St. Joseph renewing fears that some homes and a section of Lake Shore drive (Red Arrow highway) may be doomed. Concerned residents of the area met last night and decided to form a public group to work on the problem with state and federal governments. This view looking from the Bluffs (new apartment building at bottom) north into St. Joseph shows varying degrees of erosion. The Bluffs apartments are located away from the bank which appears protected by vegetation. A jetty seems to have impeded the lake's encroachment just north of the Bluffs while exposed shoreline is indented. Dumping of junk cars as bulwark has caused controversy. Rows of jetties farther north attempt to guard shoreline. Area in center of photo is St. Joseph industrial park. New Shoreham terrace nursing home is near center of picture at Lake Shore drive and Hawthorne avenue.

ON THE BRINK: Lake Michigan also is destroying property in secluded places like this row of homes just north of Grand Mere lakes in Lincoln township. Owners are considering 1,000-foot seawall as defensive measure. (Aerial photos by Adolph Hann) two and a half miles. Because no local action has been taken, Wong said the program has not been undertaken.

Zollar said state law now provided for no aid for a project of this type and he indicated special funds this year would be doubtful in view of the budget. The State Highway Department, he said, does have funds to maintain the roads, but he said they wouldn't act until an emergency actually developed. "They (the highway department) have no plans now for the road here," Zollar said.

Zollar doubted that the area could be labelled a disaster area, as questioned by State Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, because of no immediate threat to life.

Catholics Will Vote At Adrian

ADRIAN (AP) — St. Joseph and St. Mary Catholic parishes continue operation of financially strapped Adrian Catholic Central High School which has 208 pupils.

The decision was reached Thursday night at a meeting of some 500 representatives of the two parishes.

It was estimated an additional $22,500 would be needed for capital outlay and $23,000 more for additional teachers and salary increases if the school is continued.

Catholic Central already is on a so-called shared-time program, with pupils taking some courses in public schools.

New Buffalo Project To Begin

Start Monday On Pumping Station, Filtration Plant

NEW BUFFALO — The long-awaited New Buffalo lake water intake project will get under way Monday, it was learned last night at a special meeting of the city council.

The council authorized engineers, Clyde E. Williams & Associates of South Bend, Ind., and three contractors to proceed with the project. The three contractors are Luedtke Engineering Co., Frankfort, Mich.; Layne-Northern Co., Mishawaka, Ind., and Knapp Construction Co., Rochester, Ind.

Knapp Construction Co. will start work Monday on the construction of the pumping station and filtration plant, known as Division C of the $1,082,000 overall project.

Councilmen last night approved the transfer of $11,500 from the general fund to the water department to purchase land at the west end and on the south side of Water street where the plant will be built. The property will be purchased from Peter Kerhoulas. A $500 deposit had been paid on the property when the water project was started a few years ago. The money will be returned to the general fund after funds are received from the federal Farmers Home administration which is helping finance part of the project.

Atty. Stephen Roumell reported the revenue bonds transaction will take place at 11 a. m. on Feb. 24 at the city hall. The city will turn $850,000 in revenue bonds over to the FHA official who will deliver the funds to the city.

Within two days of this transaction, Roumell said, New Buffalo Treasurer Mrs. Burnette Nichols will deliver revenue bonds to the Alma State bank and receive $232,000 for the remainder of the project.

The council approved the request of Dale Weller, president of the Bank of Three Oaks, to include the Inter-City bank of Benton Harbor and the Bank of Three Oaks as depositories for the city water project fund.

Andrew Krycka, city manager, was authorized by the council to carry out the necessary legal procedures conforming with the special assessment ordinance regarding the installation of a sewer on Water street from Whittaker to Willard street. Installation of the sanitary sewer was ordered by the Berrien County Health department.

DEDICATION PLANNED: Stained glass windows recently installed in the chapel of the United Methodist Peace Temple, Benton Harbor, will be dedicated in ceremonies Sunday at 5 p.m. Designed on the theme of Christ's ministry to men and the church's ministry to the world, the first window portrays Jesus blessing the children and is framed by medallions symbolizing other acts and teachings of Jesus. The second depicts a modern family at worship and is surrounded by panels symbolizing the church's ministry to the modern world. The first window (top) will be dedicated to the late Mrs. Frank Richdale who worked extensively with the children of the church. The memorial was given by her husband, now also deceased. The second window will be a joint memorial to a number of persons in whose memory donations have been made. Cost of the windows was $4,320. (Color photo by Chief Photographer Charles Zindler)

B. Springs Man Gets New Trial

The Michigan court of appeals this week reversed the 1966 burglary conviction of a 30-year-old former Berrien Springs resident and remanded his case back to Berrien circuit court for new trial.

Judge Karl F. Zick said it's the first criminal trial reversal he's had in nine years on the bench.

Elmer Ray Danles had been convicted by a jury in Judge Zick's court for breaking and entering at Trinity Lutheran church in Berrien Springs in late 1965. He was sentenced to 5 to 10 years in prison.

But the court of appeals ruled that Danles is entitled to a new trial because Judge Zick failed to caution the jury that it could not take pretrial statements of two alleged accomplices as substantive evidence.

ATTY. STEPHEN SMALL

A native Benton Harborite has had an unusual vantage point from which to watch a spectacular news story unfold.

He is Atty. Stephen Small, 27, now on active duty as a lieutenant with the Law Department of the United States Navy. He is stationed in San Diego, Calif.

Last March Lt. Small was appointed liaison officer between the Navy and Mrs. Lloyd Bucher, wife of skipper of the captured U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

A court of inquiry currently is sifting the capture of the Pueblo in January, 1968, by North Korean warships. Star witness is Bucher, who was freed in December, along with 81 other members of his crew. One crewman was killed when the Pueblo was seized.

HANDLES COMMUNICATIONS Since his appointment as liaison officer, Lt. Small has handled all communications between Mrs. Bucher and the Navy. He has come to know her well in the process, of course. And he has also met Commander Bucher since his return from Korea.

The Bucher family resides in San Diego, where the court of inquiry is being held. A photograph of Bucher in the Jan. 3 issue of "Time" magazine shows Small right behind Bucher.

Lt. Small and his wife, the former Susan Frick of Benton Harbor, also live in San Diego.

He has a little more than two years left in a three-year duty hitch with the Navy.

Prior to going on active duty, Lt. Small practiced law in Benton Harbor for a year in association with his father, Atty. Robert Small. The senior Small and his wife reside at 823 Lavette street, Benton Harbor.

Lt. Small is a graduate of the University of Michigan law school, and also received his undergraduate degree from the university.

Lakeshore Buried By 101-Shot Barrage, 85-80

Buchanan Still Rules Blossomland

By JOHN VANDEN HEED

Staff Sports Writer
BUCHANAN — Buchanan all but buried Lakeshore's championship hopes with a devastating shooting barrage in a Blossomland battle here Friday night.

Coach Don Rennhack's league-leading Bucks blasted away at the Lancers an almost unbelievable 101 times for an important 85-80 victory.

Lakeshore withstood the early volleys while holding the lead until late in the third quarter. Buchanan led 66-64 entering the fourth period and then unleashed 27 shots over the final eight minutes to secure the win.

The triumph leaves Buchanan with a commanding two-game edge in the Blossomland loss column with six league games to go. The Bucks and Lancers will meet again in the last game of the regular season.

"We had 88 shots one time before and I thought that was an awful lot," commented Rennhack. "But we've been getting plenty of shots all season. Let's face it, you can't score if you don't put the ball up there."

And the free-wheeling Bucks did plenty of that in firing away from about any spot on the floor when loose for even a split second.

"Gosh, they hit from far out," added Lancer coach Russ Olin in wondering how to stop the Buck team which has now won 18 straight Blossomland games. Buchanan also had a 54-44 rebounding edge and used its height for a lot of easy baskets underneath.

"There in the last of the game when we were getting the second and third shots, we were getting some of them in there," continued Rennhack. "But in the first quarter we weren't."

Dale Russell, Buchanan's 6-2 center, shared game scoring honors with Lakeshore guard

Steve Gaunder. Each collected 26 points.

Buck Danny Merritt, making his first varsity start, netted 22, while Jeff Clark came off the bench to tally 18. Pat Sexton contributed another 13 to the Buchanan cause.

Other Lancers in double figures were Dan Rosenhagen with 15, Gary Stockman with 12 and Ron Pallas with 10.

Buchanan connected on 37 of its shots for an overall 37 per cent average. Lakeshore got off 26 fewer attempts and meshed 33 for a respectable 44 per cent mark.

Buchanan missed its first eight shots to open the game and Lakeshore leaped out to a 7-0 lead. The Lancers led by as many as 11 in the opening period before settling for a 23-17 advantage at the end with Stockman having seven points.

The Lancers took their biggest lead of the night at 31-19 early in the second quarter, but the Bucks fought back and with a string of eight straight points tied the game for the first time at 39-39 with 2:25 left in the half.

There were four more ties in the first half but Buchanan never could manage to get over the top with Lakeshore emerging with a slim 48-47 lead.

The Lancers had hit 51 per cent of their shots in the first half with Rosenhagen and Gaunder leading the way with 15 points each. Russell had 16 for Buchanan at the halfway points, while Sexton had 11 and Clark 10.

Buchanan continued to meet with frustration early in the third quarter with four more ties for a total of nine without getting the lead.

Clark finally hit a two-pointer with 2:09 left in the third period to give Buchanan its first lead at 61-59.

The lead then exchanged hands eight more times and there were six more deadlocks before Clark connected again to give the Bucks the lead for good at 78-76 with 4:12 left in the game.

Gaunder had kept the Lancers in contention in the third frame with an 11-point effort, but he was blanked in the final quarter as Lakeshore's starters netted just one field goal over the final eight minutes. Rosenhagen failed to score in the second half without getting a shot and finally fouled out with 6:42 left to play.

Merritt was the big Buck scorer in the fourth period with nine points, including a pair of three-point plays.

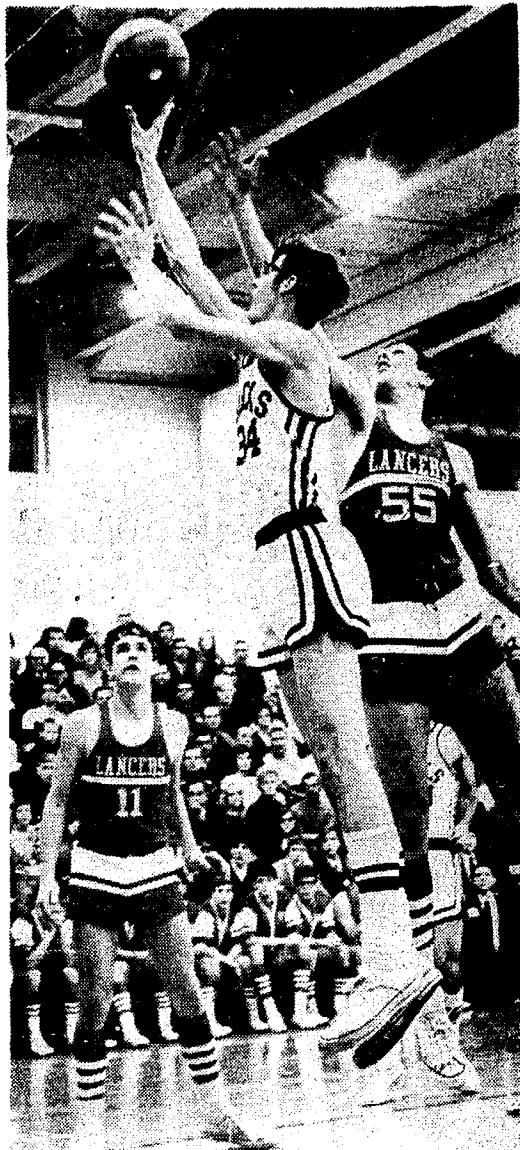

"We didn't get the ball to run with in the second half," added Olin. "And when we did we threw it away." The Lancers were guilty of 12 turnovers over the middle two periods.

Lakeshore did get a three point edge at the free throw lines in hitting 14 of 22. The Bucks were only 11 for 21 in the charity department.

Lakeshore stands second in the Blossomland at 5-2 and 8-3 overall. Buchanan is 6-0 in league play and 7-3 on the season.

Friday's junior varsity preliminary was also a thriller, but Lakeshore came off with a 60-58 victory to up its record to 10-1.

Chris Knapp tallied 16 points to pace the Lancer jayvees, while Bob Demler and Dave Radtke added 15 and 10, respectively. Harlan Vastine and Ron Aalfs scored 19 each to spark the Bucks, and John Gorbitz added 12 more.

Bears Fall At Portage

Fouls Prove Fatal In 67-66 Defeat

By JAKE SHUBINSKI

Staff Sports Writer

PORTAGE — Showing St. Joseph coach George Gaunder a whistle today would probably get about the same results as waving something red in front of a bull.

A pair of whistles played a major part in St. Joseph's 67-66 Big Six conference defeat at the hands of Portage Central here Friday night.

The Mustangs converted 23 St. Joseph fouls into 21 points to overcome a field goal edge of 28-23 compiled by the Bears.

Meanwhile, the Mustangs were charged with only nine infractions, five of which were called in the first half. At one point midway of the second period, the Bears were leading in the foul department 10-1.

"I guess if you complain about the officiating, it sounds like you are crying," said Gaunder. "But 23-9 does sound a little one-sided."

Of the 23, foul No. 5 on Tim Polen with 38 seconds left in the game was the one that bugged Gaunder the most. It was a backcourt foul called as Tom Pick was going past Polen.

"It just didn't look to me like Polen made contact," said Gaunder. "I think we might have overcome our mistakes and the fouls had it not been for that call."

Pick, who scored 11 of his 17 points in the last period, sank both free throws to put Portage in front 67-64 after the Bears had cut a six point deficit to one.

With 1:08 left in the game, the Bears trailed, 65-59. A close-in jumper by Mike White and a beautiful 10-foot hook shot by Mark Witkowski brought the Bears back to within two, then the fourth foul of the half was called against Portage's Jack Schuring and Bill Prussing hit the free throw.

After Pick's two free throws, Larry Bronkan connected from the side with eight seconds left but the Bears never got their hands on the ball again as Portage used up the time getting the ball into the front court.

Before the second quarter was four minutes old, Prussing, whose five baskets in the first period had sparked the Bears to an 18-14 first quarter lead, was on the bench with three personnel.

Witkowski was charged with the Bears' 14th foul of the half with 1:51 left in the second period and Gaunder decided to turn the game over to subs so he would have some regulars to play in the second half.

With only Joel Raak of the starting five on the floor, the Bears moved into a 36-34 halftime lead with the help of good relief work by Bronkan, Jim Ticknor, Steve Jochman and Frank Gillespie.

With 4:32 to play in the first quarter, a shot by Prussing put the Bears on top, 12-5, but St. Joseph then went two minutes and 32 seconds without scoring and Portage tied the score at 12-12.

This was one of seven times during the game that the score was tied. The lead changed hands nine times.

A basket by Randy Brown with five seconds left in the third period gave the Mustangs a 31-29 lead and coach Bill Michael's crew never trailed again.

Fouls hurt St. Joseph but the Bears didn't aid their own cause a great deal with their ball handling and rebounding.

The Bears were charged with 17 turnovers, one less than Central's total, but eight were turned into baskets by Portage.

Portage held a 31-29 rebounding edge after being beaten on the boards 67-37 in the first meeting of the teams that resulted in a 78-71 St. Joseph triumph.

Last night, the Bears took only 11 offensive rebounds and 21 on defense. Witkowski had 12 of these, White nine and Raak seven. Schuring led Central with 12.

Central finished the night with a 479 shooting percentage by hitting 23 of 48 shots. They only shot 23 times in the second half, including a 5-for-8 fourth quarter.

"We just slowed it down and worked for the good shot," said Michael.

St. Joseph's 28-for-64 effort resulted in a 43.8 percentage.

Prussing led the St. Joseph attack with 23 points, all but two of which were scored in the first and fourth periods. Raak, with nine points in the second quarter, finished with 15 and Witkowski with 12.

The loss leaves St. Joseph with a 2-4 conference record and a 4-6 overall mark. Portage Central has now won two in a row and are 3-8 overall. The victory was the first in six conference games.

Coach Lloyd MacTavish's jayvee team rallied from a 27-19 halftime deficit for a 61-58 win in the opener. Mike Knuth and Dave Hedstrom scored 14 each and Craig Zupke tallied 12.

A basket by Knuth with one minute to play put the Bears in front, 57-56, after which they never trailed. A pair of free throws by Hedstrom made it 59-56 with 25 seconds left but Portage came back with a basket five seconds later to stay in the running.

Two free throws by Stan Watts with nine seconds left put the game out of Portage's reach.

The Bears play twice next week, traveling to Holland Christian Tuesday night then hosting Niles on Friday night.

Bangor Nears League Crown

BANGOR — Bangor ran off with its 10th straight victory to just about wrap up the KVA championship here Friday night.

Coach Norm Johnson's Vikings upped their conference record to 8-0 in dumping Delton 74-57. All of the other league teams have at least three losses with four games to go.

"We're in great shape," admitted Johnson. "We're interested in winning them all now. But we've got to play better than we did tonight. We had a lot of ball control errors on the fast break."

Bangor made its best showing Friday in the opening quarter by outscoring the visitors by a 25-11 margin.

"We were man-to-man pressing in the whole first quarter and we looked real good in jumping out to a big lead," explained Johnson. "In fact, we led 17-3 at one time."

"We pulled it off because we got in a little bit of foul trouble. And they outplayed us during the second and most of the third quarter. The closest they got was 45-40 midway through the third quarter."

"We came to life along about the middle of the fourth quarter and got a few fast breaks and clutch baskets when we needed them and pulled away. (Tim) Cloud got 16 of his points in the second half and he was being doubled and sometimes triple teamed by their zone."

Cloud finished with 23 points to take game scoring honors. Bob Dentzman added 22 to the Bangor cause, while Gary and Grant Stokes chipped in with 14 and 11, respectively. Mark Alaman topped Delton with 22 tallies.

Bangor sharpshooters meshed 32 of 56 field goal attempts for an impressive 57 per cent average, while Delton netted 24 of 60 for a 40 per cent mark. At the free throw lines, the Vikings connected on 10 of 21 and the Panthers nine of 20.

Bangor also had an overwhelming 40 to 25 rebounding edge with the 6-4 Cloud hauling down 15 and 6-3 Dentzman 10.

Bangor has an overall 10-2 record to go with its perfect league mark. Delton is 3-4 in the KVA and 5-5 overall. Bangor downed the Panthers by a 94-75 margin earlier in the campaign.

In preliminary games Friday, Bangor's freshmen won 68-25 but the jayvees were toppled 49-40.

BERRIEN SPRINGS —River Valley's Mustangs had two strikes against them when they stepped on the court here Friday night, but they simply refused to go down for the count.

Playing without the services of two of their top three scorers, the Mustangs rose to tremendous heights to topple mighty Berrien Springs 65-64 in a fantastic double overtime shocker before a screaming capacity crowd in the Berrien gym.

"I'm so proud I don't know what to say," River Valley coach Jerry Schaffer beamed in the locker room. "I told the kids before the game that they're bigger than we are and they're supposed to be better than we are, so the only way we can win is to hustle. I guess that's what did it."

On paper the Mustangs looked like a soft touch without forward Todd Noble and guard Matt Caid, who together have been averaging almost 30 points a game. Noble, the team's scoring leader with a 19.8 average, is sitting out a six-day disciplinary suspension while Caid simply missed the bus.

But unheralded guard Tim Nyhuis and 6-5 center Wes Konkey rose to the challenge in storybook style as they stepped into starting roles and emerged as stars in the classic triumph over adversity.

Nyhuis, battered by two collisions that left him bruised and limping, hit 8 of 15 shots and led both teams with 21 points while Konkey added 10 points and pulled down 16 rebounds while playing Berrien's 6-8 Dennis Rusch man-to-man.

Regular Forward Don Tessman dumped in 13 points including a three-point play with 21 seconds left in the second overtime that proved to be the final straw for Berrien Springs.

The Shamrocks got 20 points from hardworking Mark Boehm, 18 points and 15 rebounds from Rusch and 10 points from forward Mike Tinker, but only 16 points from three guards who hit only 6 of 25 shots.

"We got beat right here," Shamrock coach Ken McNeely said, pointing to a chart of offensive ball control errors, and there were few who would argue with that assessment. Hounded by River Valley's man-to-man defense, the Shamrocks turned the ball over 20 times in the game and five times in the second overtime period, including a final bobbie that cost them their last shot at victory.

The fact that the game went into overtime at all was a tribute to the determination and perseverance of the Mustangs, who twice appeared to be completely out of contention.

With Rusch scoring, four baskets in the first four minutes, Berrien blasted off to a 16-4 lead, but the Mustangs fought back to score the final eight points of the half and take a 29-28 lead into the locker room after a driving layup by Nyhuis.

River Valley advanced the margin to 38-33 in the third period before the Shamrocks abandoned their man-to-man defense and switched into a 2-2-1 press and 2-1-2 zone. This resulted in three quick baskets by Steve Stemm, Tinker and Boehm that took the lead away from River Valley until Tessman's final three-point play.

With Boehm and Rusch leading the charge, the Rocks expanded the lead to 55-44 with four minutes left in the fourth quarter. But they got only a free throw by Boehm the rest of the way as River Valley cashed in on seven turnovers while breaking a Berrien stall and finally tied it up at 56-56 on a jump shot by Tessman with 27 seconds left.

Each team got one more shot in regulation time, with Rusch missing from the side with eight seconds left and Tom Briggs firing wide on a hurried one-hander that just beat the buzzer.

Berrien held the upper hand throughout most of the overtime, with River Valley coming back to tie the score at 58, 60 and finally 72 on a free throw by Briggs in the second extra session.

The payoff eventually came after Berrien turned the ball over while putting it in play from the baseline. Tessman took it in for a layup, drew a foul from John Jessup and converted the free throw that proved to be the winning point.

Berrien still almost pulled it out. Rusch cut the gap to 65-64 on a tip-in with 12 seconds left and the Rocks regained possession with three seconds on the clock when the Mustangs failed to put the ball in play within the allotted five seconds.

But the in-bounds pass slipped through Rusch's fingers and was picked off by a swarm of Mustangs as the final seconds ticked away.

By capitalizing on turnovers and scrambling for rebounds, the Mustangs got off 19 more shots than Berrien and connected on 24 of 76 (.316) while the Rocks meshed 24 of 57 (.421). The victory margin came at the free throw line where River Valley hit 17 of 28 and Berrien sank 16 of 21.

"It was a team victory,"
